which has been important," he said. "I was courteously treated. That paper printed the fact that the C. L. U. had taken a stand. The American gave the public a hint of what was going on when all the other papers ignored it."

"The public has been misled by some of the papers into thinking this a feud between two girls. Such a thing is absurd."

"WIN OR LOSE."

"You are members of a legitimate union, organized legitimately and supported by all the legitimate organizations of organized labor in the United States."

"We are with you whether you win or lose and you are not going to lose for the situation is improving hourly."

"The company is trying to get in business in Springfield. Corporate funds do not try for adjustments unless they are getting whipped."

"The first thing you know Coolidge will be in this fight himself."

Announcement was made that the Women's Trade Union League had publicly endorsed the strikers and had offered the use of its offices in the Little Building for the pickets at Beach Exchange. Refreshments will be served by league members.

"NOTHING TO IT."

While the striking girls were high spirited, company officials declared the situation was "better than any time since the walkout" and that they were backed by Miss Anne Molloy and the loyal operators.

"Nothing to it but the shouting."

Telephone Officials' Families Aiding Strikebreakers

Families of local telephone officials are cooperating with them in their attempt to break the telephone operators' strike. Mrs. Mary B. Jones, wife of the president of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, and their daughter, Catherine, were at work yesterday and today in Newton Centre exchange helping field strike breakers and doing general work.

Miss Dorothy Hall, daughter of E. K. Hall, vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, was performing similar tasks in Lynn exchange.

was the staff officers of Level 14, situated up the situation at their headquarters and they declared the sentiment against the strike was growing hourly among those who had walked out.

Encouraged by the turning of applicants for positions, company leaders declared job situation operators were at work today in Greater Boston exchange.

They also stated that recruits are being trained to fill in as operators in four days instead of going out through the regular six week course.

FEW STUDENTS OUT.

Those far the officials have been highly pleased with the efficiency of the students who were enrolled at the company school in the Oliver street building. Few of the students of this grade went out.

The encouragement given the company by the failure of pickets to appear at the main office, 30th street, this morning, was shown, due to two reasons.

First, because most of the girls on picket duty were married at Haymarket Exchange where a concentrated drive was being made and because the two lone pickets declared by company pickets had failed to appear was because a typewritten statement about on which were designated the girls supposed to picket and their stations had been stolen.

COLORFUL STRIKEBREAKERS.

The strikers met at 10 o'clock this morning in Tremont Temple. There Miss Anne Foley, president of the Worcester local, created a sensation when she charged company men and women with strike breaking and "are now at work in place of our girls."

During the meeting Miss O'Connor charged the company with violation of the labor laws and declared her intention of preferring charges against the company officials with the State Department of Labor.

The infractions of the statutes she asserted, consisted of girls and women working longer hours than permitted by law, by working indoors at night and by housing and feeding strike breakers in the exchanges.

She made known that she would try to have called a meeting of the Central Labor Union for tomorrow in order to get a "further expression of opinion."

WHERE THEY STAND.

"These two men you will seek a sympathy strike," she was asked.

Phone Conditions on Third Day

BOSTON—Service improved. Strikers late in picking exchanges. NEWTON, WALTHAM AND LYNN—Exchanges still crippled. WORCESTER—Two local operators threatened by crowd of 600, evaded by police. Exchanges 70 per cent normal.

BROCKTON—Only 25 per cent normal. Six strikers returned. SPRINGFIELD—Two pickets arrested. Exchanges badly crippled. 80 per cent still on strike.

WALFORD—Exchanges almost normal. Boston pickets having persuaded most of the local operators to end their strike.

ROBIDEN ISLAND—Providence and Pawtucket are cooperating with almost all of the operators on strike. Conditions almost normal in the remainder of the state.

NEW HAMPSHIRE—Only one operator on strike.

MAINE—Figures disagree. Strikers claim 25 operators out, company maintains but 15 are on strike.

"It means we want a definite statement of the attitude of the Central Labor Union," replied the strike leader.

"We want to find just how we stand and just how far the Central Labor Union will back us."

Previously, C. L. U. leaders in Worcester the striking operators, and Miss O'Connor's announcement was interpreted by many of the girls to mean she would try to get the American Federation of Labor to call out other telephone operators.

TAXI MEN COMPLAIN.

Union taxi drivers carrying strikebreakers from the Oliver street building to various exchanges have complained. They charge they are compelled to violate the regulations of their union by transporting union strikers.

Union milk drivers engaged in delivering milk to exchanges where "volunteer workers" are employed are protesting and a delegation to inform Miss O'Connor they would refuse to continue.

In a general review of the situation today Miss O'Connor declared that "great gains were being made."

Operators Bathe to Radio in Worcester "Hotel de Luxe"

Worcester, June 28.—The telephone exchange here has been transformed into a hotel de luxe. Company officials have supplied every convenience, including cosmetics, stockings, skirts, waists, dresses, and even nightgowns.

Bathrooms have been installed and the operators may enjoy the radio or phonograph while taking their "plunge."

A company employee has been detailed to arrange entertaining programs for the new force, and the girls have the services of two matrons and two nurses.

"I am more confident now than at any time since the strike started. The girls refused to be stampeded by the Tremont Temple meeting last night, as many of Miss Molloy's supporters expected, is most encouraging."

STRATEGIC POINT.

"Out of the 378 operators normally employed in the Main Exchange 325 are out now. Only six of the 242 are at work at Beach Exchange and only six of 149 are in at Haymarket. Sixty out of 239 at Back Bay."

"There are only six out at Haymarket. So I decided to concentrate on the local operators."

After we were unionized we got a hearing on our grievances from the company. Jasper N. Keller was president at the time. There were some of us who never believed he knew anything about the arbitrary of the local operators.

"If we succeed in getting the girls out of the job, we are general walkout of the operators all over. I realize this is the strategic point."

"I am going to make a complaint to the State Department of Labor today against violations of the labor laws by the company in Boston, Worcester and Worcester."

NO MORE PARLEY.

"I have reports from Brockton that girls under age are kept working late at night for periods longer than the law permits and also I am told that there are housing and feeding operators there, which is also a violation of the law."

"In Boston yesterday girls went to work at the Main office at 4:30 in the morning who did not leave until 10:25 last night. Pickets have turned these girls just as they did in Worcester, where our supporters found cases of operators working eighteen hours a day."

"One case was noted in Brockton where an operator worked four hours with short intervals of rest in between."

"There will be no conference with Miss Molloy or any of her aides today so far as I know now."

"I would like to see a supervisor at Brighton, one of the leaders of the O'Connor organization, today related her experiences as a strike girl in that exchange. She said that she expressed a desire to strike."

CHANGE OF SENTIMENT.

"She said to me, 'I am only getting $12 a week and that is needed at home. There are nine of us and every dollar counts. If I could get $12 I would, but we must live. If the other girls will go, I will not stay, whether I out or not. I am trying to convince them they should walk out.'"

"From this child I learned enough to convince me that there is a shift in sentiment among a number of girls who thus far have refused to go out there."

Providence C. L. U. Promises Its Support

Providence, June 28.—All union telephone operators in Providence and Pawtucket are still on strike. A mass meeting today was attended largely and indignantly by the girls intended to remain out.

Conditions in other towns and cities were reported improved, according to company officials.

A statement given out by the company follows:

"Plans are rapidly maturing so that within 48 hours we will be able to give reasonably satisfactory service all night in Providence. In approximately the same period of time all service is expected to improve materially during the evening."

During the meeting today, the strikers reported that a large number of strikebreakers have been imposed by the company and placed in the various exchanges.

William H. McIntyre, president of the Central Labor Union addressed the girls, urging them to stick and promising support of his organization.

Detroit—William B. Mayo, chief engineer for Henry Ford, has been offered and intimated to be succeeded by the joint of general manager of Detroit's department of street railways by Mayor Doreau and the Street Railway Commission. Mr. Mayo is a member of the commis-

Although the telephone officials resent and deny the charge that they are engaged in a plot to kill unionism except that of unions approved by them and known as "company unions," both girl strikers and members of the "outcast" union, of which Miss Anne Molloy is president, seem to have the fixed idea in their minds that the charge is well founded.

Members of a group of telephone girl strikers, loyal followers of Miss Julia O'Connor, were asked to tell why they harbored such suspicions. Indistinctly, they all turned to one girl, a quiet member of the group, and asked her to speak for them. This is the story she told.

FIRST UNION IN 1912.

"The first Boston union was started in 1912, as I remember, and you must bear in mind that I am speaking entirely from memory and without preparation. It became absolutely necessary to have a union because of the methods of the officials then in charge. The treatment of the girls was bad, especially that of the local operators."

"Remember that Boston telephone girls were the only ones organized at that time. If we could be shipped anywhere in the American Company's system. The New York office, I think, of that company were trying to get out of business then and we feel they are behind the moves that have brought about the present trouble."

"Meanwhile local civic authorities got busy. The New York domination was resented."

"My father began to take notice of the situation. So did James J. Storrow and others. The big issue was the tentative agreement on the readjustment of the split strike. Standing had regulated the entire agreement. He would not treat with the union at all. An actual strike was averted by a compromise agreement arrived at just before the date set for the strike. The civic intervention helped to bring this about."

"Then followed a time of union of internal dissension. The success of jealousy were skillfully planted. They accomplished their purpose to an unfortunate degree, but we got wise to that purpose in time to save our union from ruin."

"Our next showdown with the company was in 1919. More pay and shorter hours and the question of overtime were at issue then. We went out on strike and the service was practically demoralized. We were out for a week and returned on settlement terms that were better than 50 per cent on our favor."

"Since then the company has continued to fight us, questioning our strength by allowing operators to be stockholders and by the organized small numbers of girl operators into locals which do amount to much."

"Theodore S. Vail was a real president of the American Bell Company. He was too big to bother about union forces for the purpose of protecting the rights of the girls. He died a few years ago and we lost a friend and the telephone world lost a genius."

conduct of his subordinates. However that may have been, he recognized the union and agreed to arbitration. We did not get everything we asked for, but we felt that we got better than an even break. About half of our demands were granted and the other half were postponed for consideration to the following year."

"Last year Philip N. Spalding succeeded Mr. Keller as president of the company and trouble developed again. He was fresh from a strike in Philadelphia which the employees lost. He seemed primed for a strike here."

1912 STRIKE VOTE.

"Well, early in 1912 the company notified us that it would not treat with us or carry out the arbitration postponed from the previous year. Our answer to Mr. Spalding was a strike vote."

"Remember that Boston telephone girls were the only ones organized at that time. If we could be shipped anywhere in the American Company's system. The New York office, I think, of that company were trying to get out of business then and we feel they are behind the moves that have brought about the present trouble."

Scopolamin for Statesmen
Telephone Strike
By Arthur Brisbane

ETNA IS AWAKE again, another big eruption pouring out lava. Rome thinks the volcano-observatory has been wiped out. Men know as little about volcanoes as what they will do as ants in the garden path know about the gardener's hose that washes away their loaves occasionally.

ERUPTIONS AND earthquakes are as mysterious to us as a man with epileptic fits to our ancestors. They thought a devil was inside him and tried to drive out the devil instead of trying to cure the epilepsy.

WE KNOW little about epilepsy today. But at least we know that it isn't a devil tearing a miserable human being to pieces from the inside. And we know that kindness is better than lashing the "devil." One of these days we shall know all about epilepsy, and about volcanoes, which are the earth's epilepsies.

NEWS IS NOT good for gentlemen that gamble in stocks or grain. Little minus signs are scattered along the list of railroads down, wheat down, automobiles down, oil down. The properties are not worth any less than they were, of course, but the wise ones are gambling on the other side. And Mr. Babson psychoanalyses adversely.

After a while the lamb will say, as the baby elephant did, "This is too much for me," and get out. Then the wise ones will shift to the bull side and buy back what they sold.

Moral: Invest, don't gamble.

THE medical expert attending the 74th annual convention of the American Medical Association believes opium in an alkaloid called scopolamin a drug that makes it impossible to tell a lie. Under this one man accused of murdering a Chinese was proved innocent; and her gav' information that he made it possible to identify him, a third, a negro, admitted his guilt and confessed other crimes.

THAT'S IMPORTANT news. The next step is to give a good dose of scopolamin to every political candidate from now until the end of time.

FOR INSTANCE, there is a gentleman out West running for Senator, who, according to those opposing him, would say, after swallowing scopolamin: "When I advocate government control of railroads and lower rates, you must understand that first I want to railroad men and bankers that are back of me and explained that I had to talk against railroads in order to get elected. But it wouldn't mean anything after election."

You could get scopolamin statements from the most earnest advocates of absolute bane dry prohibition supply dimensions of their own whiskey barrel with the name and address of their best bootlegger.

LIBERTY, what crimes are committed in thy name," said Madame Roland, just before she was guillotined.

MRS. ELSIE O. WILKINSON

New York, June 28.—Mrs. Elsie O. Wilkinson is anxiously waiting until requirements demanded by law are fulfilled so that she may obtain her final decree of divorce from William J. Wilkinson, wealthy color printer of Great Neck, L. I.

At the time of the divorce proceedings Mr. Wilkinson brought suit for $100,000 against William J. Wilkinson, a millionaire hardware dealer, for the alleged alienation of Mrs. Wilkinson's affection.

She, however, brought counter suits against Mrs. Wilkinson for $250,000 damages, alleging that she lost the affections of her husband through her alleged alienation of Mrs. Wilkinson's affection.

Refused Permission to Attend Convention, 400 Leave the Building

More than 400 students at the United States Veterans' Bureau Vocational Training School at No. 1010 Commonwealth avenue went in open revolt today against the threat of officials of the bureau to prevent them from attending the third annual convention of the National Disabled Soldiers' League.

When the students assembled for classes today, they were informed by Assistant Superintendent Charles T. Vanehl that if they attended the convention three days' time would be deducted from their annual vacation period. Half of the total enrollment of 500 students at once left the building and marched to the Arlington Theatre, where a meeting was held to protest the action of the Veterans' Bureau.

Commander John T. Nolan of the Disabled Soldiers' League said that he had been in communication over the telephone with Brigadier General Hines of the Veterans' Bureau and the latter had stated that he would attend previous conventions but had been barred from attending the present one.

GOD PASTOR GIVES UP $200,000

Fleeced in Wildcat Stock by Promoters Who Gained His Confidence

Washington, June 28.—Trustees of St. Peter's Church disclosed a remarkable story of how Rev. J. M. O'Brien, eighty-two, the pastor, had been fleeced out of nearly $200,000 half of it his own and the rest belonging to the church, by promoters of worthless stocks.

The facts were given out in explanation of the priest's retirement and to announce he had turned over to the church his only remaining resources, property in Baltimore, Md., from which there is a monthly income of about $125.

From when he received the money, he had lost it in a series of stock promotions and had turned over to the church his only remaining resources, property in Baltimore, Md., from which there is a monthly income of about $125.

WEEKS'S AGAINST PROPOSAL

Congress Has Forbidden Use of Troops Except in Great Emergencies

Washington, June 28.—Flat opposition to any project for using the Army to aid in prohibition enforcement work was voiced here today by Secretary Weeks, speaking at the graduation exercises at the Army War College.

"I cannot believe," he said, "that persons who advocate universal employment for the army, such as enforcement of prohibition, have given serious thought to the possible consequences of such a project."

The war secretary said he was opposed to the use of the army for enforcement of civil law provisions of civil police power shall have been exhausted and given results that state of "insurrection and rebellion" which federal law provision shall justify the use of troops in enforcing the prohibition against the use of governments by the constitution.

Congress forbids it. In 1875, he said, "Congress, with a full knowledge of the dangers and abuses which had arisen as a result of the use of the army in enforcement of civil law, passed a law which prohibited the use of troops in enforcing the prohibition against the use of governments by the constitution."

He said that he was opposed to the use of the army for enforcement of civil law provisions of civil police power shall have been exhausted and given results that state of "insurrection and rebellion" which federal law provision shall justify the use of troops in enforcing the prohibition against the use of governments by the constitution.

HOUSE IN RACE FR. FITZGERALD FOR PRESIDENT, OF EVERETT BERLIN HEARS IS DEAD

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND.
Universal Service Cable.

Berlin, June 28.—Colonel Edward M. House, chief adviser to President Wilson as the father of the League of Nations, and largely considered responsible with Wilson for the Versailles Treaty, expects to have his name brought before the National Democratic Convention next year as a candidate for the nomination for President.

Colonel House would like to enter the League of Nations. Then, according to a plan attributed to him, the acquisition of the reparations problem would be brought before the League for settlement.

Having thus settled Europe's most vital problem and removed the greatest obstacle to World reconstruction, Colonel House would go before the American people on the platform of achievement.

All this is information that has reached Berlin from London through semi-official channels.

Colonel House recently was in London, where he was in touch, it is said, with certain persons from Berlin on a semi-official mission there. These men reported to Berlin that Colonel House argued strongly for Germany's entry into the League. Chancellor Cuno took the stand, it is said, that, so long as France dominates the League and continues to treat Germany as it does, the League is no place for Germany.

$2,500,000 "DRY" FUND FOR 1924 ELECTION

Westerly, Ct., June 28.—Expenditure of $2,500,000 in the 1924 political campaign to defeat wet candidates planned by the Anti-Saloon League of America, according to national officials of the organization, who are attending a conference of State superintendents.

The Rev. Joseph V. Fitzgerald, pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Everett, is dead.

Father Fitzgerald became pastor at Everett on the death of the late Rev. Joseph P. Moran about three years ago.

Previous to that he was pastor of the Church of Our Lady of the Assumption, East Boston.

He was one of a well-known St. Fitzgerald, Boston family and his brother is Christopher I. Fitzgerald, chief clerk of the Board of Assessors of the city of Boston.

As a young man Father Fitzgerald played second base for the Actus of South Boston, a famous semi-professional organization, and the late Arthur Irvin and other expert baseball players declared he was the greatest player they had ever seen.

The funeral will be held on Saturday of ten o'clock.

BRITISH LABOR REBELS AGAINST DOUBLING AIR FORCE

SEEK AS SURRENDER TO WAR

Party Resolves to Fight
"New Madness to End";
Asks World Parley

Universal Cable.

London, June 28.—That the British government's proposal to more than double its air force in the aerial armament race with France was "the preface to a new era of war" was the direct charge of George Lansbury, M. P., speaking at the labor party conference here today.

Rhine cheer greeted the declaration by Lansbury that labor would fight the "new madness to the end." At the conclusion of Lansbury's speech the labor leader submitted the following resolution:

CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY.

"That it is a crime against humanity to promote a new race of armaments within five years of the end of the world's greatest war. We call upon the parliamentary labor party to offer every resistance to the new government and we demand that the government at once call an international conference for the purpose of eventually abolishing by agreement all armaments."

The tremendous applause at the conclusion of the reading of this resolution, followed by unanimous adoption when the vote is taken.

EVASION BY SECRETARY.

Home Secretary William C. Bridgeman, speaking for the government in the House of Commons, when bluntly asked if Great Britain would set to work to limit armaments, declared that the House of Commons was considering the limitation of all armaments. He added that Premier Baldwin was awaiting the result of this consideration before taking any steps.

Meanwhile a long picture of giant airplanes accommodating hundreds of passengers linking all parts of the world without delay, and carrying out at lightning speed, were being presented to the delegates to the International Air Congress by E. Handley Page and W. T. Saville, in talks on the development of commercial aerial navigation.

HARVARD FACULTY CHANGES ANNOUNCED

Announcement of several important changes in the faculty of Harvard University has been made. Lieutenant-Colonel William Starr Browning, recently detailed by the War Department as commanding officer of the Field Artillery unit of the Harvard Reserve Officers Training Corps, has been named professor of Artillery, and has been named assistant professor in the same department. Both are Point graduates. William Henry Pickering, discoverer of the ninth and tenth satellites of Saturn, assistant professor of astronomy, has resigned, effective September.

PASTOR'S EFFORTS PAY $20,000 DEBT

"What give up when your debt is hanging over your church." This is what the Rev. M. M. Thorburg, pastor of the Second Methodist Church told his flock when they were claiming that a debt of over $22,500 could never be wiped out.

Rev. M. M. Thorburg

Thorburg let nothing discourage him. He went to work in a systematic way and the parishioners burned the mortgage this week.

OLD SOUTH WALL TO BE REMOVED

Brick wall of the Old South Meeting House at Washington and Milk streets, which antislavery campaigners helped to build, is to be removed, according to Curran Crocker, secretary of the Old South Meeting House Association. According to Mr. Crocker, the association has already taken steps in a plan recommended to the city to widen Washington street at this point, to remove the wall and make an archway through the tower of the building. This wall will be replaced by an iron fence, giving motorists a clear view if the archway plan is rejected.

CONVICTS HERE ARE SAFE FROM ANTI-LIE DRUG

Bostonian, the "twilight drug," which scientists claim to possess the faculties of criminals that they cannot lie, cannot be administered in Massachusetts.

The reason lies in that the constitutional laws of Massachusetts for all prisoners being required to give evidence against themselves.

The drug, which is the same drug used by physicians in dealing the pains at maternity, was recently used in San Quentin prison, Calif., as an experiment to clarify a murder, larceny and other crimes.

Dr. Eliza T. Ransom, of 20, 171 Bay State road, who has administered scopalamine in more than 1,300 mental cases, said:

"I will admit that if women are allowed to sleep after scopalamine is administered to them, they become unconscious, and even a tendency to reveal secrets is shown, but if a correct quantity of the drug is administered, any person will tell the truth of his past life."

PRICE OF MILK TO ADVANCE IN BOSTON

The price of milk in Greater Boston is going up.

This announcement came from the New England Milk Producers' Association, which has advanced the price to dealers half a cent.

During the last month, it was stated, the consumption of milk in Greater Boston was approximately 22,000,000 pounds.

In announcing the increase of price to eight cents, the association issued the following statement:

"This eight cent price is for milk which will cost the consumer 12 cents in Greater Boston. The cost of handling in the country and transportation charges make it imperative that the price be increased."

The present price of milk in Boston is 12 1/2 and 14 cents. This price will be advanced when the new scale goes into effect.

4 MEN AND 3 WOMEN KILLED IN TWO N. J. AUTO CRASHES

Plainfield, N. J., June 28.—Four persons were killed and two seriously injured when a motor car in which they were riding was struck by a Baltimore & Ohio Railroad express train at a crossing east of South Plainfield station early today.

The dead: Harry Nichols of East Orange, driver of the car; Andrew Barnes of Newark; Miss Grace Montemery of Caldwell, a nurse, and E. J. Ellis of Newark.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 28.—Albert L. Conatuck, manager of the Hotel Traymore, his 14-year-old daughter Mary, and Mrs. Eleanor Moore, were killed today when a motor car which Conatuck was driving collided with a one-man trolley car.

FOOD QUERY DEPARTMENT

YOUR FOOD PURCHASING DIFFICULTIES SOLVED

A THURSDAY FEATURE

Are you at a loss as to where you can secure some particular brand or kind of foodstuffs? If so, write the Boston American Food Query Editor. We will answer your inquiry in these columns as quickly as possible.

Food Query Editor:
I am very anxious to know just what the difference is between pure lard and leaf lard. I have asked many market men and I have received various explanations, but I am not satisfied that I have the right answer yet. I have always contended that leaf lard is better than the pure lard, but I have a store man who claims there is only a difference in the name. However, I have always had better results with the leaf lard. It may be imagination, but I would like to get straightened out on this matter. Which, in your opinion, is the Southerner.
MRS. R. G. D. Southville.

Food Query Editor:
I made up fresh daily and the cooking butters might have been made six months or longer. We do not know of any issue in Boston carrying the Baby Brand of grease, but you can secure First Prize Nut Margarine at 10c per lb. at the following stores: Corner, Dorchester, or the Java Brothers, Waltham.
Food Query Editor:
Will you kindly advise me where I can buy Genuine Southdown Station, either for roasting or chafing? Have been unable to locate any in the Boston market.
MISS G. M. P.
165 Huntington Avenue, Boston.

Food Query Editor:
You can secure Genuine Southdown Station at H. L. Morrill & Co., 11 Merchants Row, or Dale & Bailey, 19 New Canaan Hill, Boston. The above people make a specialty of chafing station.
Food Query Editor:
Where can I buy Mrs. Kilday's Pin-Money Pickles, put up in Richmond, Va.
MRS. W. F. P. Newton, Mass.

Food Query Editor:
What is known as pure lard is generally steam rendered and contains as high as 70% or 75% of moisture. This lard is made from the various fat trimmings of the hog, and while it is good and pure, at the same time it cannot be compared with the pure leaf lard. A market cannot possibly get over a lb. of pure leaf lard out of a hog.

Food Query Editor:
I have been unable to locate the purchase First Prize Nut Margarine. It seems to have gone off the market, but I have used it many times and found it to be very fine. As I remember, the same concern handled the Baby Brand of margarine. I know the price of it was about five or six cents more than First Prize. I was really hard to tell Baby Brand from butter. Could you tell me if there is any place in Boston where I could purchase either the First Prize or Baby Brand? What is the difference between the two of them, other than the price?
MRS. W. J. W. Dorchester, Mass.

Food Query Editor:
Ammon & Person of Jersey City, New Jersey, are the manufacturers of both First Prize Nut Margarine and the Baby Brand of Butter. As you know, their First Prize Nut Margarine is a superior grade and contains a large percentage of nut oil. The Baby Brand of butter is a natural butter color and taste and is really very hard to distinguish from real butter. In fact, many people claim that it is better than a lot of second grade or cooking butters now being sold on the market, as this also is

REFUSES TO BE 50-50 WIFE; GETS DIVORCE

New York, June 27 (U. P.)—Mrs. Gladys Miller, thirty-two years old, former Long Island society hostess, lived for five years as a neighbor and intimate friend of her rival. This was revealed when she obtained an injunction in Brooklyn a divorce from George Miller, now a construction superintendent in California. She refused to be a 50-50 wife.
Less than a mile from their cottage in East Orange, N. J., Mrs. Miller charged, Miller built a house for his wife. She continued to maintain the home "for the children's sake."
Miller and Mrs. Miller were first married in 1918. They had two children, a son and a daughter. Mrs. Miller moved into the cottage in 1920. She was a social leader in the town. Miller was a successful contractor. The two lived happily until the two children were born. Then Mrs. Miller was hurried to

Africa Yields Skull of Man Who Was Adam's Buddy

Capetown, South Africa, June 28.—Another "missing link" has turned up.
The human skull found at Dintagwa, southern Rhodesia, has been classified as older than one found at Swansburg recently, and is said to belong to the epoch between the Neanderthal man and the Java man.
A hospital for a serious operation, and discovered she was the second Mrs. George Miller to submit to the surgeon's knife there. Returning home, she discovered more details of the situation in a letter that arrived for her husband. Suffering her pride, she continued to maintain the home "for the children's sake."

ARMY AIRMEN INSULIN HELPS START ON NEW 4-DAY FLIGHT

San Diego, Cal., June 28 (U. P.)—In the second attempt to two days to break endurance and speed records, Captain Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant J. B. Hunter, army aviators, were forced down by grogginess yesterday, took off at 4:45 a.m. this morning on what was planned to be a flight of four days and four nights.
Six weeks ago Robert Lansing, former secretary of State, who has been seriously ill from diabetes is said by his physicians to have shown great improvement under the administration of insulin. The patient recently was discharged from the hospital in California.
Lansing is reported at once, it is said, and after he left the hospital continued the treatment at his residence here.
Not only has he gained greatly in

HOME ECONOMICS EXPERT APPORTIONS $3,000 YEARLY INCOME

FOR FAMILIES HAVING TWO OR THREE CHILDREN

Miss Sara L. Oiler, authority on home economics today prepares budgets for two families with the same income of $3,000, one of four people and the other of five.

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

The operating expense of a home proves practically the same whether there are two children or three. Thus are the proponents of race suicide confounded.

Miss Sara L. Oiler, home economics expert of the American Bond & Mortgage Co., New York City, demonstrates how families of four or five can best apportion a $3,000 yearly income. The budgets Miss Oiler offers have met the test of time, having been used by actual families.

MORE LUXURIES

The family of four enjoys a few more luxuries than the family of five, but in the end they save the same amount, enjoy the same kind of food, live in the same kind of an apartment house and are allowed the same amount for upkeep. The first budget follows:

FAMILY OF FOUR, $3,000

Investment—
Life insurance	$100.00
Savings bank	147.00
Operating—
Rent	75.00
Utilities—
Electricity	40.00
Gas	20.00
Water	10.00
Telephone	10.00
House rent	10.00
Food—
Meat	100.00
Produce	100.00
Butter	10.00
Flour	10.00
Other	10.00
Laundry	10.00
Household supplies	10.00
Transportation	10.00
Medical	10.00
Amusement	10.00
Gifts	10.00
Club dues	10.00
Books, music, etc.	10.00
Personal expenses	10.00
Education	10.00
Travel	10.00
Insurance	10.00
Charity and other	10.00
Emergency fund	10.00
Total	$3,000.00

A budget is a plan for spending money. It is quite as personal as a suit of clothes and should be made to order for your needs and tastes. Sample budgets are like yard sticks—excellent and necessary things to measure by, but not to be used as a personal touch to make them fit your needs.

SLIGHT CHANGES

The budget designed for a man and wife and two children with an annual income of $3,000 can be modified to fit the $2,000 income of a man and wife and three children with slight changes.

Spending by budget is planning beforehand instead of regretting the bill.

Following is the altered budget:

FAMILY OF FIVE, $3,000

Investment—
Life insurance	$75.00
Operating—
Rent	75.00
Utilities—
Electricity	40.00
Gas	20.00
Water	10.00
Telephone	10.00
House rent	10.00
Food—
Meat	100.00
Produce	100.00
Butter	10.00
Flour	10.00
Other	10.00
Laundry	10.00
Household supplies	10.00
Transportation	10.00
Medical	10.00

Personal expenses	10.00
Education	10.00
Travel	10.00
Insurance	10.00
Charity and other	10.00
Emergency fund	10.00
Total	$3,000.00

The extra service can be expected, excepting the laundry," explains Miss Oiler. "Very few women do their own washing today. Washing the family clothes should not be demanded of any woman however small her allowance."

"Harding down" should be professionalized by families, and should be done to great advantage. What sets so small for Agnes should be given to Dora, and so on.

Tomorrow the $3,000 income will be considered.

PROVIDENCE MAN KILLED BY AUTO

Providence, June 28.—William A. Strong, forty, of No. 31 Cranston street, was run over by an automobile in front of his home and died later in the Rhode Island Hospital. The name of the man driving the car was not given out by the police.

250,000,000 GALS OF BOOZE LESS IN LAST 3 YEARS

Washington, June 28.—American consumers of alcohol have had 250,000,000 gallons less during the last three years of national prohibition, Commissioner Haynes said in a statement today, than they had in the previous three pre-Victorian years.

Haynes showed that total with draws of alcohol, whiskey and other spirits during three years of prohibition aggregated only 82,502,164 gallons compared with 328,066,415 gallons during the three preceding years.

Members of the ex-Kaiser's household at Doorn, Holland, including the servants, contributed in a list for the same purpose.

Schlager was the first German resident in the French after the 18th was occupied.

Bernstorff says Germany would pay if freed.

Paris, June 28. (AP.)—The declaration of League of Nations allies adopted a resolution yesterday asserting the league should be charged with the settlement of the reparations question. The resolution was supported by the French and German delegations, headed respectively by Jean Bessieux and Count Von Bernstorff, former ambassador to the United States.

Count Von Bernstorff said he would support the resolution because it stipulated that Germany should be represented on an equal footing with the Allies in negotiating a settlement. He added:

"You will be surprised at the ardor of Germany in paying reparations if you can guarantee that payment will liberate the country from foreign oppression."

CURLEY PAYS 18 PLANES FOR WARM TRIBUTE TO WIFE

Mrs. James M. Curley is the Mayor's ideal of a wife and mother. This year tribute to his wife was made by Mayor Curley on an anniversary wedding anniversary, observed quietly by the Curley family at their summer home at Kennerly, Mass.

"The ideal wife and mother of today is her husband's charm and her children's pal," the Mayor said. "She is sufficiently modern for her husband to be proud of her in public, and she is sufficiently old-fashioned to be a real home maker."

"I know of no better example of her ideal wife and mother than Mrs. Curley, for seventeen years my constant companion and charm," Mayor Curley said in sincere tribute.

Mrs. Curley has just recovered from a recent serious illness. She wore a courage bouquet of forget-me-nots picked by the Mayor and the six Curley children near their Nantucket home.

The Mayor, then an alderman, married Mrs. Curley seventeen years ago in St. Philip's Church, Harrison avenue.

"I chose my ideal wife" seventeen years ago, and my only regret is that I did not find her years before that. Our happiness has been perfect. If I had the choosing to do again, I would choose the same wife."

ADRENALIN RESTORES CHILD THOUGHT DEAD

Paterson, N. J., June 28.—Dorothy Galvin, one-year-old daughter of Mrs. Adelle Galvin, of No. 366 Edison street, this city, who was pronounced dead by doctors from diphtheria, was revived again by the use of adrenalin. It was stated by the doctors that the child would recover. The Galvin child was brought to the hospital suffering from diphtheria. Before an operation could take place the child died.

RADIO TO BE WORLD PEACE AGENCY, SAYS DR. ALEXANDERSON

FACTOR IS UNITING RACES

Noted Engineer Asserts Other Nations Are Following America's Lead in Science

"Radio is going to do more for world peace than any World Court or League of Nations."

Dr. E. F. W. Alexander, chief engineer of the American Radio Corporation, and recognized as an authority on radio telegraphy and telephony, asserted the foregoing at the annual session of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, at Swampscott.

"Radio is becoming the most effective agency for international unity," declared Dr. Alexander, "and is going to become the greatest factor in bringing the peoples of the world together in one common interest."

"The only gentle man's agreement made during the World War was that respecting non-interference in radio communications and not a single nation violated it. We expect that Germany would break this agreement and prepared accordingly, but Germany didn't."

"Every nation today realizes the importance of radio development and the forward nations are hurrying to follow America's lead. England has joined other European countries in the building of a great receiving station where experimentation is carried on continuously. Japan has adopted our system and promises to be well represented in this field."

"Not rivalry, but a spirit of co-operation such as has never been ob-

MUST DIE IN CHAIR FOR CONTRACTOR'S DEATH

MRS. ANNA BUZZI

Mrs. Anna Buzzi was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in the New York Supreme Court. She was charged with shooting Frederick Schneider, wealthy Bronx contractor, with whom she had been living after leaving her husband.

servant in other professions, dominates the work being done in radio. America is the center of radio development and will continue to hold first place, just as England led in control of cable communication.

"When people may get in immediate communication with one another from the ends of the earth, one of the greatest obstacles in the way of proper understanding and permanent peace will be removed. Amateur radio data are helping to develop radio, said Dr. Alexander, by stimulating public interest in this science.

The convention of electrical engineers will close Friday evening.

MRS. BUZZI TO PAY EXTREME PENALTY

New York, June 28.—A woman will pay the supreme penalty for murder—death in the electric chair—unless the governor intervenes or a new trial is granted.

A jury of men made this decision when they found Mrs. Anna Buzzi, 28 years old, guilty of slaying Fredrick Schneider, wealthy contractor, residence will be pronounced July 3—sentence the law requires to be "death."

If Mrs. Buzzi goes to the chair she will be the fourth woman in this State to die for a crime. Only one woman has been electrocuted in this State—Mrs. Martha Place, at Sing Sing Prison in 1899. Two others were hanged.

During the trial the State charged that Mrs. Buzzi, fearing she was about to lose the love of Schneider, with whom she had lived as his wife for eight years, shot him. His body was found behind the wheel of an auto standing on a country lane. Mrs. Buzzi is the third woman convicted in New York this year by a jury of killing a man. The other two—Mrs. Lillian Ralston and Mrs. Paulette Schuette—were sentenced to serve 28 years for second degree murder. The jury in both these cases was warned to try the case with their heads and not their hearts. In the Judge's charge the Buzzi jury was told to disregard sentiment in considering a verdict.

3 IN PERIL AS PLANE LANDS NEAR ROCKS

Passengers on a hydroplane at Swampscott had a narrow escape when engine trouble developed and the machine was forced to land off Blaney Beach. High winds drove the plane up on the beach dangerously near the rocks.

A man and woman were passengers. The pilot made a good landing but the rough sea quickly whirled the boat around, spinning it up on the beach and smashing a pontoon.

The VETERAN MOTORIST gives a few rules of the road

"WHY IS IT, I WONDER, that you still read about so many automobile accidents at railroad crossings? With the thousands of smashed cars and undertakers' bills caused this way, you'd suppose that every motorist would put on the old thinking cap when he spots a crossing."

"I saw a smash once, and that was enough for me. No more taking chances for Yours Truly after that, or 'hoping' there isn't a train coming. You can't absolutely trust anything but your own eyes to tell you whether the track is clear or not. The flagman may not be on duty when you happen along. The automatic signal may be out of order. The train may be coasting quietly down a grade toward the crossing. There are a dozen 'mays' and 'may not's' and 'ifs'."

"No siree! Life's too short and sweet to take blind chances at grade crossings—when it's so simple and easy to make sure. My tip is: always assume there is a train coming. It is better to be wrong than to have your picture in next day's paper—"Victim of Auto Wreck."

Strictly Business

THE business of Gem Blades is shaving and they're strictly business. They remove your beard quickly and cleanly without waste motion. No wire edges, no scrape—just a darn good shave. The secret is no secret—it is in the way we treat the steel.

Scientists tell you that the molecules of steel are normally jumbled to put it unscientifically. It is this jumbled structure of the steel that makes a perfect razor edge impossible. Gem metallurgists have found that high power electrical heat treatment aligns the molecules of steel and permits grinding the steel to a perfect shaving edge, one ten-thousandth of an inch thin. The result is a new degree of keenness that you must experience to appreciate.

Medbury Says—

By John P. Medbury

THIS is the time of the year when women are boarding their fur coats for the summer.

A DAME takes a vacation during June, July and August and figures that her soul is entitled to one too.

SHE makes her husband leave his Tuxedo at home so that the moth won't starve to death.

BUT as far as her fur coat goes, the moths think it is Lent.

THEY say live on mink in the winter but they go on a calico diet during the summer.

ONE woman heard of a remedy for scabies, but she misunderstood the farmer and filled her closets with cod-fish balls.

SHE found out later that moths didn't like camphor and asked the Society for the Prevention of Crisply to Animals if it was all right for her to use it.

SHE probably figured that the moths would run right down to the office of the humane society and tell them.

CAMPFIRE isn't very pleasant but a moth shouldn't expect to have perfume with his meals.

HER clothes being made of very tough material, one woman out them up into small pieces so that it would be easier for the moth to sleep.

HER husband told her that she should put a knife and fork in the closet and let the moths do their own carving.

THIS average moth will not admit, but he'll devour an evening gown for cotton and swallow a pair of suspenders for dessert.

MOST of them are very informal; they'll just as soon eat in your vest and shirt sleeve.

ONE dame was so kind-hearted she always left a light in the closet so that the moths could see what they were eating.

ONE moth told another and pretty soon her closet got to be a regular cafeteria.

SOME moths will take what you give them and others like to beg; some that they want to order a la carte.

ONE moth was used to eating in a poor family's closet and when he began boarding with some rich people he died of indigestion.

DON'T COMPLAIN UNLESS YOUR COMPLAINT GAINS SOME-THING.

There is nothing more disgusting than the person who has an eternal grouse or a grudge against the world.

The chronic whiner is a good one to avoid.

You may have just cause for complaint, but if you can think of nothing else you are doing yourself a great injustice.

If things are not right and an effort on your part might do some good, pitch in and turn things over and get them straightened out if you can.

But do not be eternally talking about it, for by so doing you miss a lot of interesting things, and you may lose a lot of delightful things.

No matter how much they may sympathize, even your friends get tired of hearing all about the one and that which is not as it should be.

This is not the way to get bad matters righted, either.

There is a time for everything, to be most effective.

Stick your evidence, then hold your tongue for a while and wait.

And have it ready for emergency. Be patient, live, love and be happy with your family and friends.

NAMASTE!

What can you do with your name?

Can you make a funny sentence out of it? Or a wise sentence? Or a snappy one? Or a sunny one? Or any kind of a sentence?

The Boston American offers a dollar to any one who sends in a bright or unusual sentence made up of the first letters of either your FIRST, middle or LAST name.

Every one printed gets a dollar. Each week a prize of $5 will be given to the best one used that week.

Everybody in Boston takes a shot at this game. It's plenty of fun trying to figure out the 52 capital sentences you can make in this way. And if you get one printed it means a dollar, or $5 if it is the best one printed during the week.

Send as many as you like. Make up sentences from your first, middle or last name. Nobody is barred.

A preacher, reading his sermon from his pulpit in the midst of his sermon, was paralyzed with amazement to see his rule all spring in the gallery eating the popcorn in the lower bowl with their mouths closed. But, while the good man was preparing a sermon of repentance, the young hopeful cried out:

"You said to your preaching, daddy, keep your mouth closed."

Inflate your mind with big ideas of Boston and she'll run.—Rev. Thomas Turrell, West Somerville.

Serious Indictment Against Amherst

Albert Parker Fitch, former president of Andover Theological Seminary and for the last six years professor of the history of religion and biblical literature at Amherst, Walton H. Hamilton, professor of economics; Howard E. Hinners, instructor in music; Walter W. Stewart, professor of economics, and Clarence E. Ayres, associate professor of philosophy, are among the last batch of teachers who have resigned from the faculty of Amherst on account of the removal of President Melickjohn.

We quote part of Dr. Fitch's letter of resignation to the board of trustees:

I do this with regret. I have spent six of the happiest years of my life in the college under Mr. Melickjohn's leadership. But I am unable to accept either the decision of the board as to his removal or the manner in which it was accomplished. To do that would seem to be a violation of all the canons of intellectual integrity and moral candor, for which, in the past, Amherst has stood. Nor am I able to associate myself with a new regime in which indiscreet teaching and free inquiry would appear to be no longer possible.

Could a more serious indictment be made against an American college dedicated to the teaching of the young of a great alleged democracy than this letter of resignation by Dr. Fitch?

Professor Hamilton writes that he tenders his resignation with deep regret, "for in my eight years here the classroom has been a free and joyous inquiry, but the recent action of the trustees and in the manner in which it was taken to make it clear that at Amherst College of the immediate future I cannot engage in disinterested teaching and study."

Mr. Hinners resigns because "Amherst College will not find it possible during the next few years, at least, to continue the liberal policies which it has heretofore pursued."

Let it be remembered that one of the trustees is a partner of J. P. Morgan, who received a degree of LL. D. from Harvard at the same time that President Melickjohn resigned for daring to allow the students to hear both sides of the great questions in which organized, profiteering, freebooting wealth was interested on one side.

The last few years have been full of conflict between the liberal tendencies of the day in our higher education and the reactionary control by the freebooters of the country. The victories have been all with the freebooters so far.

The answer, of course, is public universities. There is no more reason why we should have private colleges than private grammar and high schools. The same reasons which compelled us to establish public schools as a great instrument of democracy ought to compel us immediately to establish public colleges for higher education. With the complexities of the day we need higher education as much as we needed grammar school education one hundred years ago.

A Big Pearl

And a Surprised Oyster

Copyright, 1922, Star Company

A pearl, breaking the record for size, has been found in Australia. Somebody will pay a fortune for it and pass it on to his wife, saying proudly, "I don't refuse the dear little woman anything," then perhaps start off to amuse himself ELSEWHERE.

Apart from that depressing moral possibility, consider the standpoint of the oyster that contained the pearl. If it hadn't lost its life in losing the pearl it would have paid any reasonable amount, in oyster money, to get rid of it.

The shiny surface on the pearl is deposited by the oyster to keep its tender body from being scratched.

Nothing could surprise the oyster more than to learn that out of the water, on the land, these live creatures that deliberately fasten pearls on themselves and believe their importance to be thereby increased.

You couldn't explain that to a pearl, nor could you probably explain to any living being being the conditions under which higher beings exist on other planets and other levels outside our ocean of air.

Quaint Antique Prices

They Depend on the Buyer

Copyright, 1922, Star Company

What is the value of an "antique"? It varies considerably. Mariani, a Paris dealer, bought an old statue of the Virgin and Child from a little church in Paris, supplying a copy to take its place. He paid 2,500 francs. Mariani sold it to Janers, another Paris dealer, for 8,000 francs. Janers swears he sold it to a New York dealer, Demotte, for 14,000 francs. Demotte, according to evidence given in Paris, sold it to Mr. Vanderbilt of New York for 400,000 francs.

Mr. Vanderbilt might almost congratulate himself, for at least on that occasion he bought a GENUINE antique. The only trouble was that he will probably have to give it back. The clergyman of the church had no legal or moral right to sell it.

As You Perspire—

Think of the Horses

Copyright, 1922, Star Company

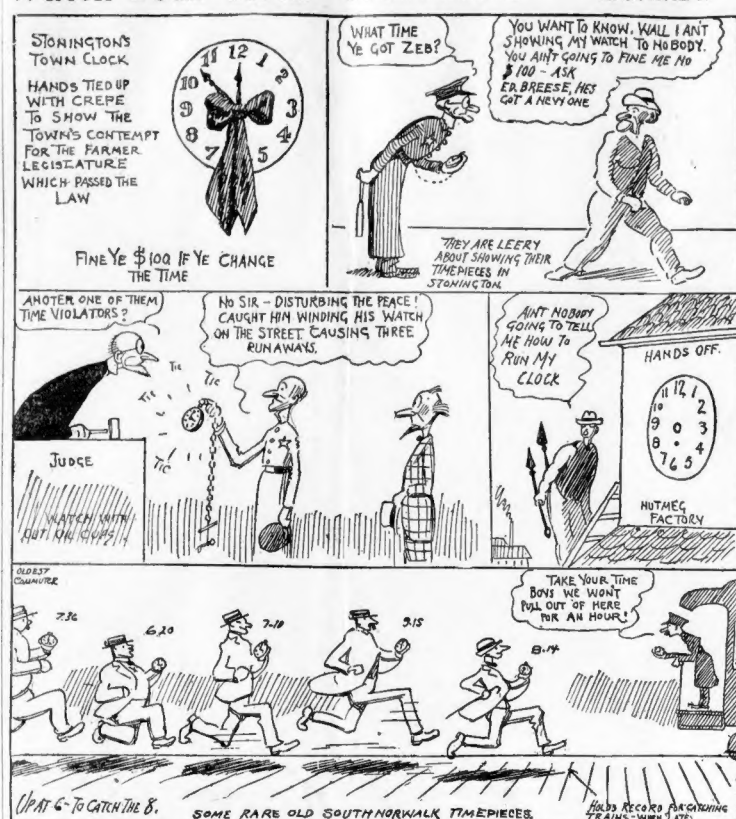

Massachusetts, New York, Ohio and other States have recently suffered intense heat. Many deaths are reported.

You may find comfort in your perspiration in remembering what science has done to relieve the cruel suffering of horses. Many can remember the wretched animals dropping dead in the shafts or in the traces of the street cars in all the big cities. Electricity in the ears and explosive gas engines in the motor trucks have done away with most of that. Science has done more to prevent cruelty to animals than could be done by many "prevention" societies. Cruelty ENDS when it is no longer PAYB.

THE ELEVENTH HOUR ALWAYS BELONGS TO DEATH

By Herbert Kaufman

STYLE, which is the historian of vanity, keeps repeating itself. Fashion is always running through grand-mother's attic.

Smart specialty shops are now wiring glass heroseum fountains—old lamps of all sorts begin to throw new lights.

Science, too, takes counsel with the past. President Wilbur of Stanford, first head of the American Medical Association to be elected from the Pacific coast, perhaps unconsciously, turns to China for the inspiration of his maiden speech.

Doctors there, you will recall, are hired for lifetime by their patients—but all fees stop during illness. Physicians yonder are engaged to keep clients well. An equivalent system is recommended for America.

Every human machine should be thoroughly overhauled once a year. Coming derangements cast their shadows before. Any disease is easily halted in its primary stages. Tuberculosis, blood infections, diabetes, gallstones—even cancer—are half cured when promptly discovered. The eleventh hour belongs to death.

Hang Your Head, Democracy!

Every other hospital and graveyard is a monument to delay—so are three penitentiaries out of four.

From time immemorial, wisecracks have contrasted the cost of prevention and remedy, and have warned us to stretch trees in the twilight.

Invalids and criminals alike are products of neglect—illness largely a personal misdemeanor and incurability a social felony.

Two hundred and fifty thousand babies are annually buried in the United States without reaching a single birthday.

Secretary Davis, speaking at Mooshat, announces with proper pride not one of the tiny orphan watchfully reared by the loyal Order of Moose has yet died in the first year, and proves by the record that defectives and juvenile delinquents furnish 80 per cent. of our criminals.

Three hundred thousand of the half million men and women in corrective institutions are there because parents didn't realize or meet their duty.

Hang head, democracy, and admit failure so long as such remediable conditions persist to your abiding shame.

The Game and the Candle

"The Times" prints a dispatch from Paris which delivers the opinion that New York is menaced by over-electrification.

Powerful currents promiscuously escaping from industrial motors and lighting plants pass through omnipresent steel structures and set up a pressure much akin to electrocution. The human organism, we are told, may not indefinitely resist these ceaseless vibrations. Manhattan's atmosphere is so charged that nerves begin to break and brain cells show signs of disintegration.

But then, credits the disturbing statement to Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute, a confessed refugee from local din and clamor. Believe psychiatrists had no supporting testimony in their experience.

But then, experts in the disagreement are synonymous. It stands to reason that man cannot play Frankenstein and Prometheus without penalty.

The sudden and general employment of world-reaching forces logically requires adjustment and adaptation. Environment meets every creature. Evolution is a series of climatic conformations.

Sandstone and chalk cliff trace the alteration of little ooz-dwelling animals to skyscraper builders and microbes while for tenacity.

As the earth's crust cools, terrestrial forms and habits also change.

Folk daring new domains, flying above mountains and draining the heavens of energy, will quite probably suffer a while for tenacity.

Each game has its corresponding candle. Progress and enlightenment exact unescapable tolls.

Wanted: A Real Pied Piper

The sun looking down on Chicago finally sees something new. Goiters fly above the Olympia Country Club links and try to drop ribboned balls directly on the greens. Partners on the ground follow through. Good practice for war pilots.

The army's unsuccessful attempt last Winter to blow up the ice-jam above Fortchester indicates that few of our bird-men are yet crack shots.

Sol Goldstone, putting rats in the Capitol cellars, has a better eye. Washington's Pied Piper never misses a shot. His nightly average is twenty rodents. The Treasury Building employs weasels for the job.

We haven't done well to date in our battle with vermin. Invent a safe, sure exterminator and grateful nations will celebrate your memory.

It costs nearly as much to feed worms, weevils, moles and the like mice as we spend on the general family back and table. The biggest holes in civilization's poke are gnawed by the tiniest of creatures.

They Did Not Die in Vain

Flies buzz above dividend ointments. Existing contracts between the railroads and the Brotherhoods cease on October 1st. Trainers are now in session at Cleveland to discuss the advisability of wage increases.

United Mine Workers, meeting at Scranton to revise their contracts, unexpectedly find discord in the ranks. Some members would leave well enough alone; radicals want more pay and less day.

The usual flexing of labor muscles as election approaches. Palm Beach negro convicts, free from the fear of whipping, declare a strike and refuse to work without ice water, whereupon camp guards send hot coffee and biscuits and win the round.

Where there's a will there's a right way. Hit a man in the stomach, not on it. Discipline needs no lash.

It never rains but what it pours. Hardly is the wreckage cleared away from the Ocean Avenue train, jump than a brick wall of a Brooklyn elevated car yard falls and crushes three passers-by. More damage suits.

Hit a corporation often enough in the pocket and watch it put equipment in its straps.

Coming efficiencies, urged by economy and compelled through legislation, will attest that the martyrs of railway recklessness did not die in vain.

ROYALTY IN THE DRESS TRADE

PARIS, June 28.—In one of Paris' finest apartment houses now converted into a Parisian office, the servants' floor is a busy, bustling place. On one door one reads "Baroness de Grotzsch, Models."

Here is where the former Princess Nihiloff takes out an existence, aided by Mademoiselle Narbonne, daughter of the Russian Ambassador. Another door is marked "Lingerie," and the business is managed by the Grand Duchess Marie. The old order changed (living to the "Princess" today reads "Dressed by a Princess").

Family Needs Food

Editor Helping Hand:

I would like to ask for — in Havertill's. Business is very dull, owing to labor troubles, and just at the time when there was work in the shoe shop where he is employed he had to undergo an operation for a carcinoma in his side. He is slender and not at all strong and has had a very bad cough since the early part of last Winter. I have in gladly given up my little outfit does not go far to support a family of seven. The boy wears size 2½ shoes and the girl size 2. Their shoes are nearly off their feet. There are five other children, none old enough to work. The father is trying to get work out of town and has a job in view in Haverhill, Mass. but they will be small. Since writing the above I have heard from the mother, who tells me they have nothing to eat. I gave them my last dollar because the little ones seem so hungry. MRS. M. E. S.

How can the farmer put himself in a position to force a profit price? Much is said about surplus and overproduction. There never was such a thing as a permanent surplus of most grains, wool and cotton, but if there was, how is the farmer to protect himself against low prices?

If the farmer uses all his capital, equipment and labor to feed and clothe the world, endure extremes in weather and risk frost, flood, drought and bugs and could only sell half their output they should have a profit on that half.

Two Good Offers

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you please send the address of Mrs. C. H. the young mother of eighteen years of age, as I have a number of articles that I think she could use. I also have two other people who are interested in her and have clothing to send. Sickiness has prevented me from going out to see P. J.
